DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

1. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fukatsu et al. (US 6,534,761).

Fukatsu et al. teaches a hollow shell disposed on a scanning platform and having at least one opening and a projected portion formed thereon (2, 13, 24 of FIG. 1), a flexible element (belt 19), a stop portion formed between the projected portion and the scanning article (when being scanned) (shutter 17), a positioning module assembled with the hollow shell (rollers FIG. 2). It is well known and conventional that article is inserted into an opening, and is positioned for scanning by the positioning module. The shell/housing is interpreted to be hollow, as is well known and conventional in the art. Further, the limitations recited in the preamble are well known and conventional art typical parts of a scanner device. Re claim 10, the shutter 17 is interpreted to include a cover plate disposed near the scanning article.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 2-9 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

3. Claims 11-20 are allowed.

4. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: The prior art of record fails to teach the use of a transparent plate disposed between the hollow shell, right and left width position sliding blocks. Such modifications are not obvious in light of the cited prior art.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure: Tsai et al. (US 6,678,075), Dudek (US 5,239,759), Chang (US 2002/0039205), Ikeda (US 6,157,440), Tsai et al. (US 6,637,897), Han (US 5,907,413), Anderson et al. (US 6,608,989), Motoyama (US 5,710,967), and Brook, III (US 5,574,542).
